WHEN CHOLERA WAS IN NEW YORK AND JAPAN.

Getting Bill of Health on a Pole-No Chances Taken With Steamers From Infected Countries.

An Act was passed in 1892, "to prevent the infection of cholera in the Hawaiian Islands," under the authority of which all ports in the kingdom excepting Hono-The material for doing the lulu were closed to shipping other work came from us and we than coasting, by proclamation of zow have in stock an elegant | E. Toe Board of Health on Sep-York harbor. No pilot was allowed to board any vessel until permitted to do so by the port HOLLISTER DRUG CO., L'D, physician.

No Custom House officer or guard was allowed on board a Popular Topics vessel, until she had been allowed free pratique and entered the harbor, except by permission of the Board of Health.

On going alongside a vessel the port physician, without mak-ing fast to her, had to get the bill of health by means of a pole, disinfect the document with a one in 500 solution of corrosive sublimate in alcohol, read it and return it to the master. Steamers from the American coast and Japan, less than ten full days from the hour of depar-ture, could not be boarded by either the port physician or the pilot. The vessel had to be ordered in quarantine, with the yellow flag hoisted, for a period to complete ten full days from the hour of her departure. The Board of Health was to set guards in boats to prevent any communication with the vessel.

The mail was allowed to be landed in a quarantine boat and fumigated before delivery. Masters of through steamers, who might belunwilling to comply with the regulations, could land passengers, baggage and freight in uarantine, but the scows and men employed in the work had to go into quarantine for ten days after exposure. Any vessel with an unsatisfactory bill of health had to be anchored outside. No vessel could enter the harbor, and land passengers or freight, with-out furnishing bonds for all quarantine expenses.

Physicians were ordered to report, in minute detail, every suspicious case of diarrhœa occurring within their practice or coming to their knowledge.

These regulations were formulated mainly at the dictation of the late Dr. Trousseau, who, from previous knowledge of cholera epidemics, was extremely concerned to prevent its introduction, at all costs, to these islands.

Honolulu has as many machinists considering the population as any place we know of — and they're good machinists too, men who can take a steel rod and with the assistance of a lathe fashion it into parts for the most intricate machinery for an engine. To do this, of course, requires a knowledge of tools as well as the handling of them.

In our store room one department contains the most complete assortment of machinists, tools in the city. Look at them and you will find they are all of first quality (the price will give you the impression that they are thirds) every one of them shining like an African's heel. The assortment consists of hammers-all sizes and shapes from the cute little one used by the jewellers to the heavy one which the boiler maker uses in riveting the steel plates together. Then we have the Handy Pipe Wrench, a new device without a fault. This tool will be found a convenient one even in the house where none of the occupants are machinists. Hand vises for machinists can be had of us in every size manufactured, so can Pipe Vises and Cold Chisels. We have every thing used by metal workers in their trade.

Then we have a stock of carpenters wood working tools second to none in the city-first only in quality. You cannot call for a tool used by a carpenter that we do not have in stock. Another thing you may be in erested in is an axe that will hold its edge-a new thing in axes and something every one needs about the house.

Bird cages have been mentioned in another paper; just here we will say that the stock we carry is complete.
